TUI TAI ADVENTURE CRUISES

The Tui Tai Adventure Cruise is a unique holiday designed for active travelers looking to get off the beaten path and experience Fiji. The expedition combines tropical adventure and a chance to immerse you in the culture of Fiji. During your adventure you will kayak, mountain bike, hike through rainforests and waterfalls, snorkel pristine, vibrant reefs, scuba dive in a number of world-class dive sites, visit local villages and more!

Tui Tai Adventure Cruises is the premier adventure experience in the South Pacific. With a fusion of culture, diving and adventure into the pristine scenery of Fiji's outer islands, the Tui Tai Adventure Cruise delivers the "trip of a lifetime" that travelers dream of. In the following pages you will find more information about these unique expeditions.

ECOTOURISM AND SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT

Tui Tai Adventure Cruises is a real Ecotourism operation, fostering partnership and development with indigenous groups. Local villages share in the economic benefits provided by our operation. Funds distributed to local villages have been used to build new schools, purchase medical supplies and fund other community development projects. By joining the adventure cruise, you are making a contribution to raise the standard of living in the more remote islands of Fiji.

SAVUSAVU

Savusavu is the home port for Tui Tai Adventure Cruises. Known as the "Hidden Paradise" and sitting within the shelter of one of the South Pacific's most picturesque bays, Savusavu has become a hub for travel amongst the outer islands in Fiji.

Savusavu is a small, thriving town on the southern coast of Vanua Levu, Fiji's second largest island. The local airport is only 5-minutes from the town and the wharf where the Tui Tai boards its guests. Flights from Nadi to Savusavu are approximately 50 minutes, while Suva to Savusavu is 30 minutes.

Given the friendly small-town and outer island atmosphere combined with diverse natural resources on land and within the sea, Savusavu is an ideal location to start your expedition.

ADVENTURE CRUISES FOR EVERYONE

Adventure Cruises are suitable for all ages, skill and fitness levels. Activities are soft-adventure and our guides are always there to be sure you are safe and enjoying yourself. Generally we don't allow children under age 12 on our adventure cruises. We do have several "kids-friendly" expeditions throughout the year, so please contact us if you would like to bring children under 12 on our trips.

FEATURED ACTIVITIES

Monday: Savusavu Bay, Vanua Levu

Yanawai River Kayaking

Make sure you arrive in time for the morning boarding as you don't want to miss the Yanawai River Kayak Excursion. The Tui Tai will sail a short distance across Savusavu Bay and anchor in front of the mouth of the Yanawai River. We will take a zodiac part way upriver to our departure point. From there, board your kayak and begin paddling through the dramatic rainforest surroundings. The river is calm and easy to navigate. The scenery will change from enormous tropical mangroves to lush green rainforest. Within the rainforest you will see a variety of different birds flying overhead or even barking in the distance.

Dive Site: "Golden Nuggets"

The nuggets are two coral heads. One is a myriad of soft corals surrounded by schools of purple and orange anthias, masked banner fish, leaf fish, with jacks and barracuda circling. The second is covered in golden soft corals. Lionfish, scorpion fish, trigger fish and moray eels are abundant.

Guided Snorkeling "The Lighthouse"

Savusavu Bay is known for great snorkeling and this site lies just at the reef point facing the mouth of the bay. Expect good visibility, hard corals, colorful crinoids, lionfish, soldierfish and triggerfish.

Tuesday, Kioa Island

Salia Village Visit

A guided tour of the only village on the island of Kioa. The people of this village are originally from the island nation of Tuvalu. They are a Polynesian people with a culture, language and heritage distinct from the rest of Fiji. The people of Tuvalu were faced with an overpopulation problem due to rising seas eroding away their already small island. Following WWII, Tuvalu received money from the US and Great Britain for assistance in the battle of the Coral Sea. Using this money, they purchased the island of Kioa from the Fiji Colonial Government and relocated many of their people. The village tour will begin with some words from the Village Council Chairman, providing a more detailed history of how the people learned to adjust to a new island environment and the new neighbors they found in Fiji. You will proceed to walk through the village and see homes, the school, church and the community center. At the end of the tour you can buy locally made handicrafts direct from the artisans. The people of Tuvalu/Kioa are famous for making the best handicrafts in the South Pacific and prices are very reasonable.

Hibiscus Highway Safari

Explore the off-roads of lush island of Vanua Levu and take a trip through history. The route follows the scenic Hibiscus Highway through the mountainous jungle enroute to the Tunuloa Peninsula and Buca Bay. The rule of the Hibiscus Highway is “always wave” so wave and say “Bula!” to all the people you pass along the way. Watch for working copra and cattle plantations, villages, and turquoise lagoons. The safari takes about 2 hours and you’ll enjoy the comfort of an air-conditioned van.

Guided Snorkeling “The Farm”

Near the southwest point of the island we will drop in and snorkel the site known as “The Farm.” Here a slight current brings in clear water and nutrients to feed a lush garden of colorful corals. The different colors, shapes and sizes of corals are amazing and in fantastic health. There are nice shallow snorkel areas where you get a very close look at the myriad of small organisms that inhabit this precious ecosystem. There is also a reef wall that will allow you to free dive and see more variety of fish and other marine life.

Dive Site: “Rainbow Passage”

One of our favorite Rainbow Reef dives in Somosomo Straits. Two bommies are wrapped by fresh currents from the Strait provided a staggering cover of lush soft-corals (purple, yellow, white, red and more). Swarms of anthias and small fish will be all around you as you drift along. White-tip reef sharks cruise along and often sleep near the edge on the sea floor. Several large camouflage groupers and maori wrasses make their homes here.

Dive Site: “The Great White Wall”

Renowned as one of Fiji’s top dive sites. Prepare to be awestruck by a steep wall that descends endlessly to the bottom, completely smothered in lush white soft coral. Off the deep edge of the wall you will find some pelagics. Often schools of batfish stop by to greet us while we drift along the wall. At the end of the dive is a deep swim-through cavern providing an exciting exit to an amazing dive.

Sea Kayaking: Kioa’s inner coastline

Paddle around the calm waters of Kioa’s protected coastline facing the remote eastern side of Vanua Levu. White-sand beaches, black-rock and limestone cliffs, tall mangroves and dense green trees decorate Kioa’s coastline. Wave to the local Kioans you see paddling their traditional outrigger canoes as they venture out to catch fish. Enjoy the views of Rabi Island, the Ringgold Islands and Taveuni.

Wednesday: Taveuni Island

Bouma National Heritage Park

Bouma Heritage Park is Fiji’s conservation success story. Here four small villages have developed community-managed sustainable tourism trips based on the preservation of their natural resources. These trips were developed as an alternative to logging and other destructive income generating schemes, so every time you visit one, you are actively contributing to environmental conservation, and providing income for local community improvement.

Starting at Navakaoa Harbor, set out on your mountain bike along the northwest coast of Taveuni. You will have several magnificent views from the hillside of the surrounding islands (Qamea, Matagi, Laucala and the Ringolds). You will also cross over several streams and may see waving villages having a swim. The bike ride is approximately 10 kilometres (7 miles) with some moderate to strenuous hills. You will pass the villages of Waitabu, Vidawa and Korovou on the way. At the entrance the Bouma National Heritage Park, you can visit the visitor center. Here you will leave the bikes and proceed along the trail on foot.

Bouma Heritage Park - Tavoro Falls

There are three sets of “Tavoro Waterfalls” in the park. The trail to the first waterfall is very flat and easy to walk taking about 10 minutes to arrive at the falls. Each set of waterfalls offers a refreshing swimming pool to cool off and get a closer look at the cascades. The trails to the second and third waterfalls take about 45 minutes each in succession. These trails get a bit more steep and the hike can be strenuous. You will be rewarded by amazing views of the sea and sweeping views of the rainforest that earned the island the nickname “The Garden Island of Fiji.” You can see parrots, lorikeets and other colorful birds. Guides will point out naturally growing fruits, vegetables, medicines and other interesting plants. Listen carefully to hear the pigeon that barks like a dog!

Bouma Heritage Park - Lavena Coastal Walk

This is also contained within the Bouma National Heritage Park. On your bike, you will continue past the Bouma visitor center for 5 kilometres (3 miles) to the Lavena Lodge which has its own visitors' center. The coastal walk is relatively flat but follows the beautiful coastline south of Lavena Village. You will see some beautiful white sand beaches as well as the lush rainforest. You will cross over Wainisairi Creek using a suspension bridge. Further along you will reach a trail that follows Wainibau Creek. The trail ends at a long pool surrounded by majestic smooth volcanic rock. From here, you can take a short swim to reach a mystic pool fed by waterfalls on 3 different sides. Thick rainforest surrounds the pool above the smooth volcanic rock sides. One of the waterfalls provides a short, natural waterslide that you can climb and slide into the pool.

Dive Site: "Stillwater"

The reef system edging out from Qamea towards the Northern tip of Taveuni is home to several of our favorite dive sites. Currents passing through the channel between Qamea and Taveuni make these reefs especially vibrant in soft corals, feather stars and gorgonians. Hiding in the reefs you'll see moray eels and soldier-fish staring back at you. Pelagics can be seen roaming off the deep edges. Recent dives have discovered a variety of nudibranch species. Watch for large turtles and resident white-tip reef sharks in these maze-like reefs.

Dive Site: "Purple Wall"

Lying outside a channel between the islands of Taveuni and Qamea, a steep wall drops off into crystal clear water, perfect for viewing pelagics cruising by. The wall is covered in gorgonia fans, sea whips, soft coral, crinoids and more. Many coral trout, cod, groupers and wrasses also hide in cracks along the wall.

Thursday, Cobia Island, Ringgold Islands

Hike to Rara-Ni-Tiqa Island Summit

Rara-Ni-Tiqa Island is a volcanic and lush atoll. Our hike follows a path from a beautiful white sand beach through coconut trees. There are several nice views of the other small islands that make up the Ringgold Island Atolls. The final climb to the top involves a natural ladder made of old, sturdy tree roots. The view from the summit is worth the effort. In the old days, the island top was used to ritually send and receive messages from distant islands Laucala and Qamea. There is now a burial ground for a famous warrior on the island top.

Kayaking the Ringgolds and Cobia Island Crater

The kayaks will put in near the South end of Cobia Island at the wide, sandy beach. Paddling over crystal clear waters that shimmer the color of emeralds and sapphires, you will follow the volcanic coastline of Cobia. Making your approach to the open end of the crater, you may want to jump in for a view of the pristine coral beds below the surface. Inside the crater, you will discover a surreal, calm lagoon of deep blue water.

Dive Site: “Kokoda Point”

Kokoda Point is one of our best wall dives. Crystal clear visibility and a dramatic dropoff make for a prime spot to meet pelagics: barracuda, tuna, eagle rays, sharks and more. The wall is decorated in soft corals, crinoids and large fans. One patch of the wall is covered in sea grapes, for which the site has earned its name. The wall is teeming with fish life and macro creatures.

Dive Site: “Wall Street”

The wall just off the reef wall took us a couple tries to find it, but it was worth the search. Pinnacles emerge from the depths, covered in soft corals and clouded by orange and purple anthias. This has been a great site for nudibranchs, flatworms and lionfish.

Other activities:

The Ringgold Island Atolls have some of the most beautiful beaches in the South Pacific. These islands are breeding grounds for several unique sea-bird species as well as turtles. The maze of small islands is paradise for sea-kayaking; calm, crystal-clear waters are perfect for long sea-kayak excursions.

Friday, Koro Island

Hiking: “Witness the sacred calling of the turtles”

To the people of Nacamaki Village in Koro Island, turtles are their sacred ancestral god. There is one group of family descendents that perform a special ritual to summon the turtles to the surface. We will hike through the rainforest to a hilltop overlooking the sea. The designated village person will make the ceremonial calling ritual for the turtles to surface.

Guided Snorkeling: “Turtle Lagoon”

The turtles are sacred to the people of Koro Island, so you can expect to see a few while snorkeling. You will also see a maze of boulder-like corals decorated with christmas tree worms. Look for parrotfish, rays, sea-snakes and more.

Dive Site: “Shark-fin Point”

This is a great pelagic site. Shark-fin Point is a reef point that gets a strong cross current from the depths of the Koro Sea, drawing in a number of biggies: tuna, barracuda, rays, reef sharks, hammerhead sharks and more. Turtles tend to be buzzing around near the reef shallows. If you can take your eyes off the big fish and the deep blue, you will notice a stunning array of soft corals and fans decorating the reef wall.

Divesite: “Washdown”

Our favorite dive site for fish of all sizes, shapes and colors. A gentle slope off a shallow reef wall faces the deep blue of the Koro Sea. Expect swarms of several types of fusiliers, schools of barracuda, jacks, surgeonfish and more.

Island Night at Nacamaki Village

Generally we are invited to join the villagers of Nacamaki Village for a fun, social event known as “gunu sede.” This is the traditional way for the village to raise funds for projects such as school supplies, medical clinic supplies, youth sports programs, and other community needs. This event is a regular part of the village lifestyle and we are fortunate to be invited and welcomed in the traditional manner. During the island night, you will get to sit amongst the locals and enjoy the village style entertainment. Bowls of kava will fly around, music and dancing, and a general fun spirit will fill the air. This is your chance to experience the social life of a real Fijian village.
